IMAGINE 2040: Horry County's Comprehensive Plan Update What's happened so far?

Over the course of the last year, the IMAGINE 2040 Steering Committee and County Planning staff have examined and evaluated existing conditions, obtained public input through a countywide survey, public comments, multiple open houses, and a land use workshop, and drafted the twelve chapter Plan which formulates a vision to guide growth and public services two decades into the future. On August 16th, 2018 the Steering Committee recommended approval of the Draft Plan to Planning Commission.

IMAGINE 2040 was presented to Planning Commission at their October 25th Workshop. After a 30-day public comment period, the Planning Commission held a Workshop on November 29th to discuss the Plan. With minor recommended changes to the Future Land Use definitions, the Planning Commission recommended the Plan for approval at their December 6th Public Hearing.

The Plan is now undergoing final formatting and editing; a roughly two month timeframe which has allowed staff from various County departments to review the plan.

What's Next?

IMAGINE 2040 will be presented to the Infrastructure and Regulation Committee on Tuesday, March 12th at 9:00a.m. at the Horry County Government and Justice Center. This meeting can be viewed live on Horry County's website: <https://www.horrycounty.org/Video/Council>

LAND DEVELOPMENT REGULATIONS

The LDR's Role in Shaping Our County

Land Development Regulations (LDR), including the traditional subdivision regulations, are police power regulations. They are the guiding principles set forth by a governing body to promote a more desirable social and environmental outcome, including safety and an efficient use of current resources. The goals of land development regulations are to prevent land-use conflicts, restrain urban sprawl, ensure adequate infrastructure, promote sound planning practices, and provide for the safety of the community while managing development in an ethical manner.

The Planning and Zoning Department is the division of Horry County Government that administers the LDR; however, Horry County Stormwater, Engineering, and Code Enforcement are involved in the review of phasing and master plans, major subdivision plats, minor plats, and construction plans. No plat or other land development plan can be filed or recorded unless it is approved by Planning & Zoning in accordance to the LDR. Additionally, no building permit may be issued until a plat or plan is approvable. A property cannot transfer title of any lots or parts of a development unless the lot is approved and recorded in the Register of Deeds. In order to ensure that all infrastructure is installed or will be installed as required by the Land Development Regulations, a developer must post a bond or provide a letter of credit as collateral until such a time that the infrastructure has been installed and the financial guarantee can be reduced or released.

Horry County first adopted "Subdivision Regulations" in 1984. The regulations were updated in 2001 and again in 2008. Today's regulations are much more complicated than the subdivision regulations Horry County started with in 1984. As the population has grown and development has increased, the LDR have had to grow with changing development practices. The authority for Horry County to change and adopt development regulations comes from the Code of Laws of South Carolina, Title 6, Chapter 29, known as the Comprehensive Planning Enabling Act of 1994. The most recent revisions are undergoing review by the Planning Commission and are anticipated to be adopted in 2019.

Development Review staff began a rewrite of the LDR in 2015. That effort yielded substantial improvements to the way land is subdivided, developed and recorded in the public record. However, the regulations were not forwarded to Planning Commission or County Council for approval as ideas for continuing to improve the document kept developing. By summer of 2018, it became evident that a new document was needed.

The Planning Commission formed an ad-hoc committee of four members to guide the rewrite. Surveyors, engineers, developers and the public were invited to the meetings and to submit comments on the drafts. Throughout the process changes were continuously being made. Thirteen meetings were held where changes to the LDR were discussed and amended. (continued on next page...)

LAND DEVELOPMENT REGULATIONS

Positive Changes to Benefit Our Community

The following details some of the more important positive changes to the LDR.

LDR CHANGES:

PROCEDURAL UPDATES:

- Extensive reorganization of Articles 2 & 3
- Processes and procedures updated and streamlined
- Clearer explanation of various minor platting actions
- Updated tables and charts
- Greater flexibility for staff level decisions to avoid Design Modifications

NEW STANDARDS:

- Residential collector road
- Mail kiosk design
- Entry gates
- Stormwater
- Required notes and labeling on platting actions

STRENGTHENED STANDARDS:

- Distance between intersections
- Sidewalks and pathways
- Open Space
- Offsite improvements

MAJOR POSITIVE CHANGES:

- Streamline the application, review, and recording process to better serve the County's needs
- Stormwater Design
- Mail Kiosks
- Financial Guarantees
- Clarifies acceptable and unacceptable neighborhood Open Space requirements
- Bicycle and pedestrian facilities

Streamline the Application, Review and Recording Process: Articles 2 and 3 underwent significant organizational change. Language updates deal primarily with how the County defines certain platting actions (boundary survey vs. a resurvey for example), what constitutes a "Minor" or "Major" subdivision, and stream-lines the process of getting a plat reviewed, approved and recorded with the Register of Deeds. This means that staff can more quickly, easily, and accurately review, approve, and record submittals, thereby more effectively utilizing staff time, getting back to clients in a more timely manner, and ultimately increasing customer service for the County.

Stormwater Design: The Horry County Strategic Plan provided guidance and citizen concern led to the inclusion of the goal to reduce grade elevation changes between existing and planned development. The proposed language would limit the elevation change to no more than 3 feet. Revisions also include language for platting of stormwater easements as open space. These changes will help address flooding issues and stormwater infrastructure maintenance issues within our County.

Mail Kiosks and Gates: Until this rewrite, the LDR did not address mail delivery. There is now language for mail delivery options, including road side pull-offs and covered mail kiosks. This guidance will ensure greater quality of design for mail kiosks as well as for development entrances and emergency access gates.

Financial Guarantees: Financial guarantees ensure that development occurs as planned and approved. New language in the LDR adds offsite improvements, engineering, bike and pedestrian facilities, and surveying costs as items which can be required within a financial guarantee. This is a positive change because it provides greater assurances for quality development.

Neighborhood Open Space Requirements: Public input has shown that open space is of critical importance to the people of Horry County. Changes to the LDR include clarification on acceptable and unacceptable open space. This includes provisions relating to stormwater ponds, upland and size requirements, and fee-in-lieu of open space options. These changes will provide greater assurance that neighborhood design of open space will be of greater quality and substance for the residents of Horry County.

Bicycle and Pedestrian Facilities: The County, over the past 10-years, has seen a multitude of sidewalk, multi-purpose path, and cycling facilities added to the infrastructure network, both internal and external to subdivisions. In an effort to promote additional facilities, the LDR now includes language for when such facilities are needed, how they are to be constructed, and how they are to be maintained.

These Land Development Regulation changes will be a benefit to all Horry County citizens, businesses, and the land development community.

HISTORIC PRESERVATION PLAN

Survey Results

The Board of Architectural Review and Historic Preservation (BAR) initiated a survey last fall titled, Planning for Historic Preservation in Horry County. 234 responses were gathered and the results will help to formulate the update to the Horry County Preservation Plan. The theme that emerged from many of the responses was the need to have more information available via the internet and potentially through downloadable apps. An increase in public awareness and the need for more buildings to be recognized as historic were two additional themes that emerged from the survey responses. A summary of the survey results were presented at the Preservation Workshop, hosted by the BAR on January 15th, 2019, as the knowledge gathered effects all of Horry County and the efforts to protect the historical sites located here.

Preservation Workshop

The Preservation Workshop was a collaborative effort. Participants gathered from the City of Conway, the Horry County Historical Society, the City of Myrtle Beach, the Horry County Museum, the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Sons of the American Revolution, and various additional organizations and societies that have a focus on preserving the history of Horry County.

The meeting had a two-fold objective: to create partnerships and to inform participants about the Historic Preservation Plan update. The first objective was to see how the different organizations could assist each other on various projects that individual groups undertake and discuss how they can assist the other organizations. The objective was to create partnerships that could achieve more together than any one organization could do on their own. The second objective was to gather information for the rewrite to Horry County's Preservation Plan. Useful information was shared among the participants that will help formulate goals and objectives within the plan.
